

FIRST NATION HEALTH CENTRE SUPPORTING VIRTUAL CARE

Mustimuhw Information Solutions (MIS) has partnered with a leading Canadian expert in Virtual Care - WelTel Health. This partnership positions us to provide a powerful set of digital communications tools that are ideally suited to First Nations health centres and clinics.

With a “Text Message First” strategy, many community members can benefit from improved access to their care providers through virtual care. MIS strives to ‘leave no one behind’. That is why we have selected WelTel as a foundational communication hub for clinics.

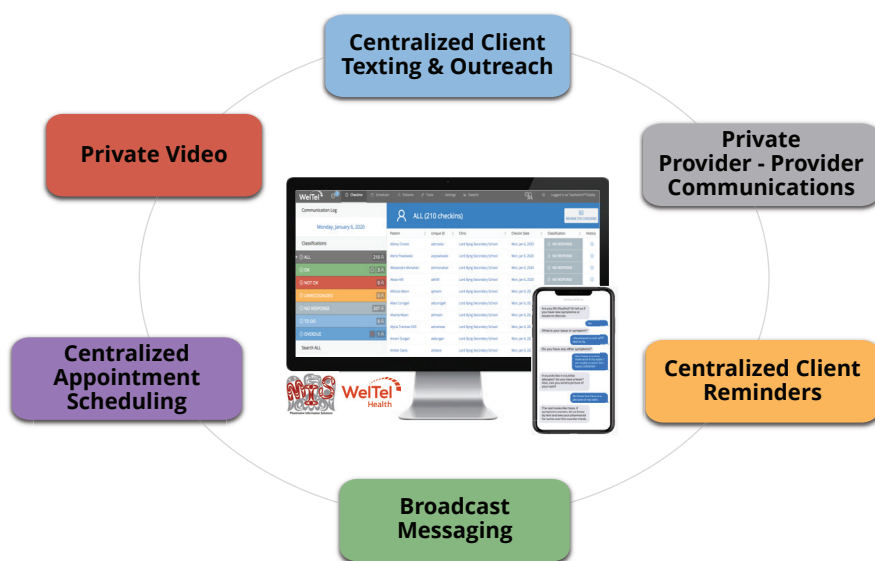

WelTel is a two-way texting and client outreach platform that facilitates efficient communication between care providers and their clients. WelTel leverages SMS-Text to ensure greater access and reach: clients require only a basic phone and do not need a data or internet plan. As a clinically proven engagement tool, WelTel enables care providers to monitor and triage targeted patient groups supporting the delivery of timely quality care and improved health outcomes.

Care providers can easily schedule and launch virtual video visits with clients, when required, with clients who have internet access.
